Interim Management

- In this handout you will get to know me as an interim manager and engineer with a hands-on mentality and more than 25 years of experience in the international "B2B" market of technically complex products.
- Benefit from my analytical and creative skills as well as my professional experience as a managing director, key account manager, product and marketing manager. You can rely on my confidence, assertiveness and goal orientation in difficult negotiations in German and English.
- Give your intercultural team an interim manager who will take responsibility and provide orientation in difficult times.
- Let us look together at what makes sense for you so that things run smoothly.

360° Sales-, Marketing- and Produkt Management

Do you manage an established SME or a start-up that has grown out of its infancy and have the impression ... that things could somehow run more smoothly?

Then contact me and get an interim manager who understands, summarizes and gets to the heart of complex issues.

Let's define a goal together and develop a project from there. To ensure that everything runs smoothly for you, we will work together to identify strengths and weaknesses using analysis tools from my well-stocked toolbox in order to derive dedicated goals.

- 360° approach: Networking of sales, marketing and product management
- 25 years of experience
- A well-stocked toolbox (S.W.O.T., BCG matrix, Eisenhower scheme, objectives matrix, etc.)
- KPI development
- User Experience (UX-Design)
- Definition of management dashboards
- Customer relationship management
- Employer branding

Project Management

Do you want to introduce CRM, digitize processes or have another project but no one else in the team who has the resources to manage it?

Then contact me and get an interim manager with the strategic and analytical approach of an experienced engineer. Get to know me as a team player who remains flexible, pragmatic and solution-oriented even in difficult situations so that your project runs smoothly.

We decide together which tools we will use to manage the project (Waterfall, Kanban, etc.) as we define the project.

- Strategic, analytical and solution-oriented approach
- Structured, graduate engineer
- Understanding complex interrelationships, summarizing and getting to the point“
- Flexible, pragmatic in finding solutions
- Hands-on mentality
- “Digital native“
- Team player
- Change management

Vacancy Management

Do you need a CSO or sales manager at short notice to ensure that things continue to run smoothly and that your employees and customers have an empathetic, appreciative and team-oriented contact person?

Then get in touch with me and find an internationally experienced interim manager with excellent communication and presentation skills who is customer-oriented, authentic and engaging.

Your team will have a cooperative and coaching leader with the experience to lead intercultural teams remotely and personally.

- quickly ready for use
- On site and / or remote
- High willingness to travel
- Experienced leader of intercultural and international teams
- Coaching leadership of managers
- P&L responsibility
- Negotiation experience in German and English, C-Level
- International and intercultural experience (Europe, USA, Asia)
- 18 months expatriate ship in Japan

Let's talk about your goals and wishes to define a project and a time frame.

In order for things to run smoothly for you,
I think things from the goal.
